
* HERE'S ONE WAY HOTELS COOK A TURKEY *

* By Monsieur Jean Millon. *

Jean Millon, chef of the Ritz-Carlton hotel of New York, has prepared for The Day Book his recipe for cooking a turkey.

In reply to The Day Book's request for his mode of cooking our national bird, M. Millon wrote:

Jean Millon

"I have the pleasure to enclose the recipe for the dish 'Liberty Day Turkey,'" and that recipe is given below.

Liberty Day Turkey.

For one young turkey 3 to 4 lbs. take $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. of very fine sausage meat; season well with salt and pepper.

Then take $\frac{1}{2}$ lb. of best chestnuts; split them lightly and put them in the oven for about 5 minutes; shell quickly and boil them almost entirely in some consommé with a little celery; let cool; when cold mix the chestnuts with the sausage meat.

Take away the wish and breast bones of the turkey; stuff your bird well, dress it and roast in the oven or before the grill, taking good care to baste it well. When ready serve the gravy of the turkey (a little fat) at the same time.

—o—o—
THE MAYOR'S WIFE

Rudolph Blankenburg, the reform mayor of Philadelphia, has a public-spirited wife with ideas on the question of municipal government. After election, he referred the reporters to her and she cheerfully remarked that now she would have a chance to carry her ideas into effect. It is inferred that she will be mayor, or at least the power behind the mayor's hand.

Of course, we shall hear a lot about "petticoat government" if this happens, but if it turns out that Philadelphia—"corrupt and contented"—shall become a shining light of progress and humanity, the laugh will be on the other side.

Philadelphia certainly needs something different.

—o—o—
New York women may smoke in public unless it creates a riot, is decision of corporation counsel, so now!

—
"Why," says a biographer of Joseph Pulitzer, owner of the New York World, was the word he used oftenest.